Announcing the Opening of OUR EROOKLYN STORE

ODAY, at 381 to 387 Fulton Street, opposite Borough Hall, we open our Brooklyn Storetwelfth and largest of our chain - with the thirteenth soon to follow in Newark.

In coming to Brooklyn, we do not feel that we are launching a new venture. For Brooklyn has generously patronized our New York stores and Brooklyn knows us. Rather, we like to feel that the new store is an addition to our service, an extra convenience to those who already know us.

New friends, too, we naturally expect to attract—men who know of us and our standards; men whose business activities do not permit shopping in Manhattan. And the ambition is not a vain one; for the policies of these stores are so firmly grounded that continuous development is achieved by deserving it.

Opening at this time, in the midst of a rather unsettled reconstructive period, we feel that a restatement of the aims and standards of these stores is proper. Correctness in its strict Metropolitan interpretation is our invariable style standard in clothing, haberdashery and hats. Reliability, in every phase and feature, backed by an uncompromising guarantee, is ever present. Value, based upon passing the advantages of volume buying on to our customers, is evident in every price. Briefly, your satisfaction is soundly served by proper merchandise, fairly priced, fully guaranteed and courteously sold.

Our pledge is the continuation of these policies. Our idea is to deserve success by the sound constructiveness of doing things as well as they can be done.
